

About Us

Energy Law Wisconsin is a law practice dedicated to providing Wisconsin utilities, businesses, governmental organizations, non-profits and individuals the legal support they need to make and implement sound energy-related decisions. Energy Law Wisconsin's owner, attorney Michael Allen, has nearly a quarter century of law and business experience, more than half of which has been devoted to representing clients in energy projects.

How We Can Help

The world economy is in the midst of an energy transition that is unprecedented in size, scope and speed. In Wisconsin, this transition is taking place against a complex backdrop of changing governmental policies, increasing energy demands, price increases, environmental and resource concerns and rapid technological developments.

Energy Law Wisconsin brings more than just relevant legal experience to the table. Its legal judgement is informed by an understanding of industry trends, familiarity with relevant technologies and relationships with many of the leaders of Wisconsin's energy transition.

In today's fast-paced world, this knowledge and these relationships are more important than ever before.
